

products

SPIRO+AgION™

SPIRO+AgION™

SPIRO+AgION raises the bar on antimicrobial protection for the HVAC industry and extends Lindab's ongoing commitment to create cleaner duct systems. With the natural protection of silver, this product line may be worth its weight in gold, but in reality, costs less than you think.

Controlled and continuous release of silver ions
Proven long lasting antimicrobial protection

Registered with the EPA for use in HVAC system components
Recognized by FDA as acceptable additive in all food contact polymers

Added measure of cleanliness where mold, fungi and bacteria are a concern
Schools, hospitals, pharmaceutical facilities, supermarkets, food processing facilities

Entire range of products available through distributors
Larger jobs are shipped directly

Round, flat oval, long seam and stainless steel duct available with AgION antimicrobial
Since a scratch-free surface is preferable, a coating repair kit containing the AgION antimicrobial is available